Red Cross Appeals For More Clothing For Needy Kiddies Here

THE kiddies are needing clothes, and so urgent is the need that an appeal was again issued this morning by the local chapter of the Red Cross.

The chapter has no clothing to give the children who are being turned away when they come asking for clothes for themselves and their brothers and sisters, the chapter reports.

Clothing for children between the ages of 6 and 12 is being sought particularly by the chapter.

Underclothing as well as outer garments are being needed to supply the demands of the children, it was announced.

If the Red Cross is to meet the demands of the children the townspeople must respond to the children's appeal by sending in all available clothing which they have at their disposal, Red Cross workers say.

Clothing for women as well as for children is being sought by the chapter as a large number of women are also asking for clothes which cannot be supplied by the chapter, it reports.

NINTH COURT BLOCKS BONDS

Injunction Halts Sale Of City Issue

ATTACKS ANNEXATION

H. M. Harris Says No Ordinance Passed By City

Special to The News.

BEAUMONT, Texas, June 2.—An injunction restraining the city of Port Arthur from disposing of the proposed $1,030,500 improvement bonds was granted by Chief Justice L. L. Hightower in the ninth court of civil appeals today on the application of H. M. Harris.

The injunction doesn't affect the merits of the injunction suit recently appealed to this court, but merely restrains Port Arthur city officials from disposing of or selling the bonds pending settlement of the appeal.

Harris, who until recently served on a city board of Port Arthur, as an appointee of Mayor J. P. Lager, alleges in his petition to the court of civil appeals that the city, in passing a million dollar bond issue, exceeded the charter limits in taxation; that the bonded indebtedness of Port Arthur is at present $2,745,000, and that the taxable value of property situated in the city is not $20,000,000 as claimed by the city.

The petitioner claims that annexation of Miller Addition was void, "because there must be an ordinance passed declaring said proposed territory a part of said city," and that the ordinance must contain but one subject. Contrary to the city charter, the petitioner claims, the ordinance annexing Miller Addition to Port Arthur contains 12 separate and distinct matters and is therefore void and of no effect.

"The city charter provides that all ordinances shall be confined to one subject and that shall be clearly expressed in the title," Harris alleges in this connection.

Harris alleges that the city is violating for a temporary injunction restraining sale of the million dollar bonds, until the litigation shall be decided, settled, Harris alleges that the city is "threatening to willfully violate" of the bonds which will "bring this court (the ninth court of civil appeals) of jurisdiction, and the plaintiffs would suffer irreparable injury."

It was a fraud upon the rights of the petitioner," the allegations conclude, "and a greater taxable burden cast upon him than was contemplated by said bond election."

City Clerk Notified

At 2 o'clock this afternoon, Major J. P. Lager had not been notified of the injunction granted today in Beaumont by the Ninth court of civil appeals restraining the city from disposing of the $1,030,500 improvement bonds pending settlement of the appeal made by H. M. Harris from district court recently, although H. M. Harris, city secretary, had been served with the court's order by Deputy Sheriff John Grobe.

The body of John Sweeney, 74, among the first construction men to come to this section, and identified with pioneer building and improvement projects here, will be shipped to Iowa Tuesday under the direction of J. E. Graunier, undertaker, and burial will be made there.

"Uncle John" as Sweeney was known to scores of friends and acquaintances here, died early Sunday at the home of his niece, Mrs. J. H. Reynolds, who lives on the road just east of Bernhard's corner. Since a paralytic stroke not long ago, Sweeney had been unable to actively engage in work, but in his later years he was connected with the Horan Construction company here.

Sweeney was with the Christie and Love firm of contractors when they were awarded early contracts on the construction of jetties at Sabine. He came to Port Arthur in 1896 with some of the first construction crews engaged in building the Kansas City, Pittsburg and Gulf railroad, now the Kansas City Southern, working at that time as pile-driver foreman. His early home was in Ottumwa, Iowa.

Surviving besides the niece here, Mrs. Reynolds, are two sisters, Mrs. Kate Grody, and Mrs. William Munley, both of Ottumwa, Iowa; and a number of nieces and nephews in Iowa, New York and Canada. Sweeney was never married.

'The Awakening' Cast Summoned By Hull

Cast of "The Awakening," to be produced here by the Klu Klux Klan, were urged today by Jimmie Hull, director, to appear at the Elks theater tonight at 7 o'clock.

Preliminary work in staging the affair will be gone over, Hull, who has just returned from Chicago with new costumes for the show said.

Local people in the cast will number 320, and Hull says the production will be the most elaborate ever staged here.

Parents of Slayers Of Franks Will Put Up 15-Million Fight

Every Resource at Command of Elder Leopold And Loeb To Be Exerted to Save Sons from Noose—Darrow to Defend the Confessed Slayers

CHICAGO, June 2.—Millions were pitted against millions today as the fight to save Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb, confessed slayers of 14-year-old Robert Franks, from the gallows was opened in criminal court before Chief Justice John R. Carter.

Clarence Darrow, noted criminal lawyer and orator retained by the millionaire parents of the two young intellectuals, opened the case for the defense by filing a petition for a writ of habeas corpus, releasing Leopold and Loeb from the custody of police.

Prevents Sanity Hearing

Darrow indicated the move was prompted to forestall examination of the youths by the state alienists, a move expected to be made by the state in order to prove the boys sane.

Resources of $15,000,000 are said to be backing the defense.

States Attorney Crowe announced the plea of insanity would be contested bitterly.

"It will be a case of millions versus the death penalty," Crowe said.

"But these boys killed an innocent child. Just for the spirit of adventure, and they must suffer the consequences. Every effort will be made by my office to have them hanged."

Both a bit remorseful for the crime they committed, Leopold and Loeb held stoutly to their original confession. They insisted that the murder was premeditated—planned many months before it was carried into execution.

Blame Discovery on Loeb

Leopold's remorse, however, as indicated in an interview, was chiefly for the fact that he had allowed Loeb to participate. Although crediting his companion with plotting the murder and accusing Loeb of doing the actual killing, Leopold said he could have carried it out alone and never been found out.

"Dick" (Loeb), a "weakling," Leopold said, "if I had known that he was going to do it, I would have killed him alone. I would have been free now."

"But what could I do? I couldn't keep up the denial after the weakling confessed everything."

Loeb was more truly sorry for the crime in which he had taken part. (Turn to Page 2, Column 2.)

FLYER SMASHES TRAIN ON SWITCH

Scalding Steam Burns Victims in Indiana Tragedy

TWO CARS DEMOLISHED

Pullman Derailed, Smashes Freight Engine

By United Press.

ATTICA, Indiana, June 2.—Seven persons were killed and nearly forty injured when the St. Louis to New York flyer on the Wabash Railroad side-swiped a freight train four miles west of here just before midnight last night. The flyer was the fastest train on the Wabash lines and was an all-Pullman train. A westbound meat train took the siding just west of Williamsport to let the flyer pass.

Four Cars Leave Rails

The engine, baggage car and smoker of the flyer passed the switch safely. The first Pullman was derailed and smashed into the engine of the freight train.

Three Pullmans and the private car of J. W. Newell, vice president of the Wabash railroad, fell off the rails. Two of the Pullmans turned over and were practically demolished. The engine of the freight train was also practically demolished and scalding steam from the locomotive burned the victims who were pinned beneath the wreckage of the Pullmans.

One Body Not Identified

The identified are: G. M. BORECHARD, engineer of the freight, Penn. Ind.

RABBI GOLDBERG, New York City.

MRS. ADDIE HOLLOWAY, Toledo, Ohio.

MRS. W. H. HOLEY, Decatur, Illinois.

E. PHILLIPS, Detroit, Mich.

The body of one unidentified dead is being held at an undertaking establishment here awaiting identification.

Of those injured twelve or more were serious. Some may die. Twenty-five of the injured escaped with cuts and bruises and some were not taken to hospitals. The seriously injured were taken to hospitals in Danville, Ill., and Lafayette, Indiana, by ambulances which rushed to the scene of the wreck from Attica, Williamsport, West Lebanon and Lafayette.

SHRINE PARADE DAZZLING FETE

Oriental Splendor Marks Kansas City Session

By United Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 2.—Marching through canyons of brilliant colors, Shriners arrayed in oriental splendor, paraded in the downtown district here today.

Great crowds lined the streets throughout the night, watching the arriving delegations. All efforts to move traffic in the vicinity of the Union station or along the routes to headquarters of the fifteenth annual convention were given up as hopeless by police. Sidewalks were jammed; wheels of autos were locked and at a standstill for hours.

Traffic officers cleared the way down the middle of the streets. With drums booming and trumpets blaring, the brilliantly arrayed marchers led their trains and followed lucky drum majors, performing juggling feats with batons, down the flag-draped streets.

One hundred thousand visitors were in the city today in the opinion of convention officials. Another 50,000 is expected by tomorrow when the main pageant is staged.

Impromptu parades were formed by casual members of various teams every few minutes. Excited by the clashing and rattling of the Shriners' march, a quickstep, the Shriners soon fell into line. A curious mingling of uniforms resulted, the tan and purple velvet of Almas mingling with the green, red and gold of the Islands, and the black and white of the Kanbals.

In order to clear congested streets, all motor traffic was prohibited on main downtown thoroughfares.

BUDGET CUT TO $371,626

Next Meeting May Reduce Bill to Limit

The city budget has been reduced to $371,626. An additional $21,626 must be cut from the figures before they reach the minimum of $350,000 prescribed by commissioners as the limit.

This was pointed out today following a budget meeting of city commissioners, during which time the following changes were made in departmental requests:

With the reduction of $300 from the commission appropriation, a total of $10,250 for that department now remains.

An addition of $787 was made in the city clerk's department, giving that office a total appropriation to date of $8,806.

An addition of $200 was made in the collector's department, leaving a total of $6,320 at present.

The city attorney's department was not changed, the present total remaining at $5,853.

The engineering department was reduced $120, leaving a total of $5,210. Corporation court appropriation was unchanged, the total to date remaining at $5,933.

The police department was not cut, the probable appropriation remaining at $49,150.

The city abattoir department was unchanged, the total prospective budget appropriation remaining at $132,125.

The drainage department was not reduced, the total amount at present calling for an appropriation of $135,540.

An addition of $1,000 was made to the probable building fund, making a total of $6,140.

The health department was reduced $200, bringing the probable total appropriation for that branch of city work to $11,855.

RALEY MURDER TRIAL STARTED

Court Adjourns to Summon More Jurors

BEAUMONT, Texas, June 2.—Selection of jurors in the Frank Railey murder case started this morning. At 11:15 the special venire of 200 men was exhausted and court adjourned until 2 o'clock, and additional jurors will be summoned.

Of the eight jurors obtained at this hour, five are from Port Arthur and three from Beaumont. Port Arthur jurors are selected from the jury box since these from Beaumont apparently are being excused on slight pretext. Jurors obtained so far include J. H. McGuire, Port Arthur; J. J. Thurston, Port Arthur; M. E. Collins, Port Arthur; J. L. Dunn, Port Arthur; W. Y. Perryman, Port Arthur; A. J. Myer, Beaumont; W. A. Adams, Beaumont; and J. C. Loren, Beaumont.

To Ask Death Sentence
For the second time this month, the prosecution is asking for a death sentence and the defendant for a suspension in the sixth district court. All prospective jurors were asked by County Attorney Martin Seaylock if they believed in capital punishment and they were also questioned by Judge J. D. Symcott on their opinion of the suspended sentence.

Frank Railey, the defendant has been held at the county jail for two weeks following the shooting of George L. Railey, Railey's brother, that he had no recollection of the shooting. Three Lucas had ruined his sister's good name and mistreated her.

Mrs. Mary Sparrow, the sister in the case was in the court room this morning. She sat with a girl friend, Railey's sister, paying close attention to all proceedings. He smoked incessantly.

To Plead Justification
An unusual number of the jurors called this morning could not read and write the English language. Others were over 60 years of age, and there were two negroes among the jurors called this morning. There is not much interest in the case and all seats in the court room were not filled by any means. The defendant does not seem worried over the outcome of the case. He will plead that the shooting was justified.

He was a member of the golf team which represented Port Arthur in a number of tournaments held through this season.

Attention of The News was called today to an error appearing in the announcement recently of W. L. Davenport's candidacy for county superintendent of schools.

In a news story in the issue of May 18 it was stated that Davenport was a graduate of the University of Texas. It should have stated that Davenport had received his education in the elementary schools and in the University of Texas. Davenport said he was not a graduate.

Prof. Davenport is assistant principal of Franklin school, where he has made a record for efficiency.

SLAYERS PARENTS

Nervously smoking cigarette after cigarette, shuffling his hands from pocket to pocket, he told of his hope for ultimate freedom and a "career."

Look Predicts His Release

"This thing will be the making of me," he said. "I'll spend a few years in jail and then be released. I'll come out to a new life. I'll go to work, work hard, and come to success—have a career."

"What's hurting me most right now is the fact that my mother won't believe me. She won't believe that I've committed murder. A mother's faith—that's a precious, sacred thing—and I've lost it."

The boy who at 17 received a degree of bachelor of arts from the University of Michigan—the youngest graduate of that institution—told of his memory of the smiling, Robert Franks whose life he had snuffed out, "in the spirit of adventure."

Loeb is distantly related to the Franks boy. He had frequently played tennis with him. Their homes were nearly across the street.

"The only thing that comes to my mind now is the picture of that happy little boy, swinging down the sunny sidewalk, away from side to side in his happiness—his innocence."

"I'll never forget the expression on his face as he dragged him into the car. Oh, that face, the sunlight, the happiness in his eyes."

Albert Loeb, the father, was in a state of collapse today. The boy's mother was in only a slightly better condition. Neither would talk of the case. Clarence Darrow, chief attorney for the parents, took personal charge of legal matters.

Franks' Mother Dangerously Ill
Nathan Leopold, Sr., was calm but silent. He only shook his head at all questions put to him. Leopold's mother is not living.

Mrs. Jacob Franks, mother of the slain youth, was reported in a serious condition. She is under the care of a staff of physicians. Her condition grew worse Sunday. It was said at the Franks home. A friend of the family today said "Mrs. Franks is dangerously ill."

The county jury, to be sworn today, will convene tomorrow. States Attorney Crowe will ask the jury for immediate indictments against Loeb and Leopold on charges of first degree murder, he said. The trial, by Illinois law, cannot start within 60 days after returning of the indictments.

MARKETS

WALL STREET JOURNAL FINANCIAL REVIEW
NEW YORK, June 2.—Further contraction took place in the volume of dealing today, the aggregate transaction falling considerably below the smaller totals here this year. But despite the prevailing apathy, no indication of structural weakness was in evidence in any part of the list.

Those bearishly inclined operators had to gather what comfort they could from the market's shyness. Some slight stimulation was experienced by trading in the last hour as a result of the strong tone maintained by industrial leaders. Amelcan Can moved up to the day's best level in the closing dealings advancing above 100, while Baldwin sold at 100 and Studebaker at 99. Aside from the spurt in stocks of this class, however, the market closed higher.

BACHE TO SAIL EASTERN COAST

To Continue Geodetic Survey Work

Survey of 4,000 square miles of Gulf from Head Bank on the west of Sabine Pass, on the east, to Calcasieu Pass, on the east, in this section of the kind made in this section for 20 years past, is completed by the U. S. coast and geodetic survey steamship, Bache, officers said today.

This afternoon about 4 o'clock the vessel pur to sea toward Fort Jacksonville, Florida, to engage in similar coast and geodetic survey work from Savannah, Georgia, to Daytona, Florida, a distance of 173 miles, according to word from officers on the vessel.

The U. S. C. and G. S. survey boat Hydrographer, which also has been basing in Port Arthur for nearly two years past, engaged with the Bache on the survey of this part of the Gulf, will continue for about a month, going then to Tampa, Florida, it was reported today.

For a number of months past the Bache has been in command of Captain Frank S. Borden, who, with other officers on his staff, have made a number of friends during the 10 months the vessel has made Port Arthur its base.

Among the features of the work off Sabine Pass resulting from the complete survey of the approaches are pointed out the discovery of several uncharted shoals, location of new lights and fixing new positions and locations for old lights, and the working out of a definite system of triangulation along the beach, which will be of great value to navigation and land surveys in the coastal country, because of the absolute location of permanent points.

2 Disappear After Wager To Catch a Rabbit Barehanded

Society Girl and Male Escort Leave Party Saturday Night in Hunt And Haven't Since Been Seen

By United Press. MOUNTAIN LAKES, N. J., June 2.—Whether a modern society girl could go out in the woods and catch a rabbit with her bare hands, was the wager which sent Helen Cole, 17, and Charles Carter, her recent, away from a house party here Saturday night.

The couple, in evening dress, disappeared into the woods near the Charles H. Crowell estate and neither had been heard from at noon today. State police and groups of volunteers beat through the woods in the direction Carter and Miss Cole were believed to have taken in their hunt for the rabbit.

Miss Cole, who recently returned from a winter in California, is a sculptor, and poet. She brought young Carter with her to week-end house party at the Crowell house.

In the morning when neither responded to knocks on their respective doors, the best-found a note from the girl saying they had gone out to get the rabbit, "dead or alive."

A countryside search is underway. Broken bones were suffered by the driver who was brought here at once to Dr. Adamson for medical attention. Broken bones of the other car escaped injury.

LITTLE GIRL IS HURT BY AUTO AT BEACH

"PORT ARTHUR PREFERRED"

YOU'RE A STOCKHOLDER— Help Yourself to Interest!

The fact that you live in Port Arthur—makes you a stockholder in Port Arthur. This is true whether you own property or pay rent—whether you're in business for yourself or lend your efforts and energies to another business—whether you are active or passive.

What would you think of a stockholder in any business that let his coupons go unclipped—that was vitally enough interested to be a stockholder, and not vitally enough interested to further the cause in every possible way he could.

Yet—that's just the situation—unless you do your best for Port Arthur—(paradoxically you collect interest by lending interest—and you cannot avoid being a stockholder.)

Therefore it's obvious how much you benefit by giving Port Arthur your best—how directly your interests are Port Arthur's—and vice versa.

That most citizens are serving is evidenced by the definite progress Port Arthur is making. That Port Arthur will progress that much more rapidly if every citizen will lend his best—so that he may in turn collect greater return—is evident.

So this is our plea for your co-operation—trade at home—boost for Port Arthur—help the other fellow so that he may better help you.

Odds and Ends and Comments on Our Morning Mail

The time has passed when radio is looked upon as a plaything. It has passed through the preliminary and experimental stages. It has come to the point where the public expects service and amusement of a high class. If nearby stations do not furnish the kind of program desired, it is only a matter of a few moments to turn them out and tune in the distant ones. Some stations broadcast every half hour, giving the important news and market reports.

Radio is fast growing to be a household necessity, and is found in millions of homes today for service as well as amusement.

Americans are returning to the simpler Egyptian couch style of bed of three or four thousand years ago. Like these Egyptians, the Americans are using more beds of metal, thought of a metal less valuable.

The Egyptian couch was an article of luxury and sometimes made of ivory, gold, and silver, says the National Foreign Trade Council, in tracing the travels of the bed.

Beds were once for the rich and noble only. The majority of humanity, since the world began, has slept on the floor, and it has only been with the increase of the wealth of nations, notably within the last century, that the bed has assumed its position as such a necessary article of life that the law of civilized nations will not permit the selling of a bed for debt.

The manufacture of furniture, of which the bed is the most essential part, takes high and increasing rank among the domestic industries of the United States. In 1914 the value of furniture products was $250,000,000, employing 100,000 persons in the industry, whereas by 1918 the whole sale value of the products reached a grand total of $737,755,000, and this figure is still jumping. The number of beds, couches and cots in the United States is loosely estimated at upwards of four hundred million.

The simplicity of the American bed is characteristic of the people who make it. The American bed is no longer the lazy man's resting place. A vast amount of ingenuity goes into making this bed simple, in contrast to the old-fashioned bed of a sleeper time.

In the golden age of the bed, three centuries ago, the bed was a little household all to itself, with curtains and a small canopy leading into it. It had cushions, pillows, mattresses, coverings, candlesticks, cords, and a railing to keep the dogs out of the bed. Sometimes underneath this huge, massive object, there was a trundle bed in which slept the children and the servants who were afraid of spoofs, and robbers.

The bed has played an astonishing role in history. It has inspired kings, queens, and the great of the earth, received their friends in bed, and a half dozen of their retainers considered it a high honor to sleep in the bed of a king.

The first business of the day was transacted in bed. Kings administered justice from the bed, and in France, for centuries preceding the French Revolution, the king sat in parliament in his bed. The first bed of humanity was some leaves and a skin on an earthen floor. It was in the hot climate of the Egyptians that the hammock idea was applied and the bed elevated from the floor so that air could circulate underneath.

The Roman bed was often a piece of stone, or cement, built in a bedroom, on which were spread mattresses. Later the Roman bed was made of wood, and during the Empire became an object of luxury. Whole cities, such as Corinth and Carthage, specialized in the industry of making beds, and the silken and lined coverings thereof. The richly embroidered canopies were originally designed to keep out insects and drafts of air. Solomon's bed was made of the cedar of Lebanon.

In the fifteenth century beds were enormous, 12 feet long by 6 feet wide. Louis XIV of France had 412 beds in different places and castles. Important people took their bed with them when they traveled. The most beautiful beds the world has seen were made in the seventeenth century.

The modern folding and metal beds are a reversion to beds of bronze sometimes made in Rome, and in Gaul, around the seventh century. The iron bedstead came into use in the eighteenth century.

The possibility of having cheaper beds, through the importation of wood and cotton from the American colonies to Europe, opened a huge chapter in industry. By 1802 springs were devised, and by 1830 every bed had its springs and every household its bed. By 1840 iron bedsteads became more common, and started this great branch of the industry which now reaches some fifty million dollars in the United States alone.

The bed you sleep in is intimately related to foreign trade. If the bed is of hard wood, this may mean an import of mahogany, satinwood, or rosewood. If the sheets are of linen, that is an import, as is the wool in the mattress. The steel springs contain manganese from South America, the paint and the varnish on the bed contain imports, and so on, through a long list of raw materials that go into this article of comfort and convenience.

To know how much air to carry in a tire, multiply the small diameter by three, multiply the small diameter by three, multiply the small diameter by three, multiply the small diameter by three.

LA FOLLETTE BOLTS THIRD PARTY TO MAINTAIN THE BALANCE OF POWER

Senator Robert M. LaFollette will not head a bolt, he will not organize a third party but will run on the inside of the old parties for the presidency with the avowed intention of throwing the election into congress.

There is a LaFollette bloc in the senate. There is a LaFollette bloc in the house. Should the election be thrown into congress, one of the candidates for the vice presidency may be elected president of the United States.

Should LaFollette make the race he will be given a running mate for vice president, a democrat most likely, an electoral ticket will be placed in the field in each of the forty-eight states. In accontested election the vote will be taken by states. There are twenty democratic delegations, twenty-three republican delegations and five state delegations which are tied.

That is, half the delegation is democratic and half republican which would cause a hopeless deadlock. It will be different in the senate where each senator will have a choice of the two leading candidates for vice president.

LaFollette and his republican progressives hold the balance of power in the senate and would be in absolute control in the naming of the lucky candidate for the shoes of Calvin Coolidge. However, the senator from Wisconsin may be bluffing. He is a wise old political fox and is the most powerful of all American lawmakers for the reason that his bloc holds the balance of power in the senate and dominates the house.

DAWES IS POPULAR

General Charles G. Dawes of Illinois may be given the second place on the republican ticket. He is very popular with American business men, he is very popular with the former service men, he is the author of the budget system, he is responsible for the reparations plan which appears to be most acceptable to all nations which were engaged in the world war.

He is a bluff westerner who has never been controlled by a political boss and although a man of great wealth he is said to be independent of Wall Street and all the alleged sinister forces in the political life of America.

Calvin Coolidge will be nominated by acclamation and the republicans must pick a man from the west for second place. General Dawes is of and for the west but he is neither a shriveled localist or a raucous voiced demagogue.

MAN FROM TEXAS

According to a Washington correspondent Representative Thomas L. Blanton of Texas is known as the hardest working and the most talkative member of the house. It is said that the Congressional Record shows that Blanton addresses not once or twice a day but frequently twenty times a day and in total number of words his remarks during consideration of legislative business have been estimated to exceed the total of those made by any other dozen members.

It is some distinction to be the hardest worker and the greatest talker in the house but does it get a man anywhere? Calvin Coolidge works as hard and talks as little as any man in America. And now he is going to be nominated for presidency by acclamation.

BORAH IS SILENT

Senator W. A. Borah, of Idaho, facing election, cast his vote against the bonus. He would not stand for it. Invited to go to Cleveland and make the keynote speech, he declined the invitation. He will not attend the Cleveland convention.

Borah is the most independent of all American senators. Elected as a republican, he follows his own head and his own conscience. His latest demand is that Soviet Russia shall be given recognition by the United States. He voted for the ex-honorator of Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana and Wheeler is a democrat and carries a bucket of tar which he is willing to spatter on all republican leaders who come his way.

According to unofficial Washington advices, the republican senators will trail under the flag of LaFollette are not going to Cleveland as spectators or cheer leaders. It is said that American senators are not popular with the people at this time. If they are not there must be a reason for it.

and qualities. Those who knew him best are ardent in his praise.

He was a strong man and typical of American life. He began as a street car driver and saloon keeper.
He grew up to be a maker of mayors and governors. He was a strong man but death was stronger and when it touched him on the shoulder he had to go like the rest of us.

It was his inevitable habit to telephone Tammany Hall about 9 o'clock every morning and arrange arrangements and to ascertain what conferences were in progress. He before that hour on April 26th one stronger than he had telephoned him and he had answered the call.

The suddenness of death surprised even his own physician which shows that the human body is a mystery that no one yet understands.

The rise of Murphy was peculiarly American. He began in lowly surroundings and, by his own efforts, rose to a great position. He was an Irishman and a Catholic.

He did not accumulate great wealth but was great in his personality and friendships. He had planned to make Governor Smith become an occupant of the White House and then take a trip to Europe, since he did not propose to leave, since he did not interfere with Smith once he became Chief Executive of the nation.

At the moment of his death he was in complete charge of the government machinery of New York. Men whom he had helped to nominate held every state executive office.

It is significant that all who knew him well give evidence as to the softness of his speech and the firmness of his word was as good as his and his promise. He was the kind of a man of whom it is said that his word was as good as a bond. That is he had shrewdness and vision enough to see that the only way toward permanent and abiding success in politics, and in every other business, is in strict honesty and dependability.

While repudiating utterly the whole fabric of Mr. Murphy's system at the same time both his friends and his enemies will bear witness to his excellent personal characteristics.

Fink Fails to Show
Plot Against Coolidge

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Al Fink of Buffalo, failed to make good his promise to disclose a "dastardly plot" against President Coolidge before the senate Daugherty committee.

Fink who was accused by Miss Roxie Stinson, of helping to "frame" her, publicly stated Saturday that it permitted to testify he would involve Frank A. Vanderlip and Senator Wheeler and Brookhart of the committee in an attempt to discredit the president. He did not appear, however, when the committee called for him and instead his attorney, George P. Kegel, asked for permission to make a statement for him.

Brookhart refused to hear it.

The owner of a apartment house need not have the capital necessary to buy or absorb a new invention, for the possibility of substitution for shelter seems beyond the inventive genius of man. Yet it is necessary often to face the owner of an industrial enterprise. In apartment hotels, there is involved no difficult development of a successful sales force.
A little is always necessary in an in-Perishable inventories, which are a part of the worry of industries, do not exist in the apartment hotel, theater, or office building.

New fads and fancies which do put out of business many presumably stable industrial organizations, e. g., the bobbed hair and the body crimpled hair pin industry, have little chance for success in eliminating shelter.

Advice to The June Graduate

Originality, Patience and Industry Necessary To Master Authorship, Says O'Brien

By FREDERICK O'BRIEN
Author of Atolls of the Sun, Myrtle Lake of the South Sea, White Shadows in the South Seas, etc.

A young man or girl can best enter the writing profession by writing and trying to sell his or her writings.

A thorough knowledge of the language, at least is necessary for one choosing this profession, and all knowledge is helpful. Other requisites are originality, patience and industry.

During the first five years, the literary aspirant probably must earn his living by other work, meanwhile writing at all opportunities.

If he attains medium success he or she should, in 25 years, be making from $3000 to $4000 a year.
Under which conditions he or she will be dissatisfied but hopeful.

If success within this period is phenomenal, $10,000 to $50,000 a year will be the financial return.
Under which conditions he or she will be famous—and probably spoiled.

The future of the writing profession? Since before Christ it has continued and will continue.

It is always overcrowded, but there are big chances at the top.

It is recommended to enter this profession is that the person having a strong desire to be an author will be unhappy otherwise.

Moral: Authorship is continuous struggle to master expression and style. Money success means nothing worth while. Seeking to make money ruins nine out of ten authors. The goal must be ever distinct, elusive.

O'BRIEN

Satisfaction is in effort, friends and fame.

Faith Cure Is Related Of Sinclair's Work Here

The revival services, conducted by Evangelist Sinclair at the Assembly of God, 13th and Victoria streets, are being attended by large crowds and much interest is being shown, church officials said today.

Several have been healed of incurable diseases, R. G. Dowling, one of the church members, said this morning.

"One girl, who could not hear nor talk is doing both since Jesus touched her body," he stated. "We invite all to bring the sick and let Jesus heal them."

Services are held each day at 10
a. m. and 7:45 p. m.

WHITTLERS IS SERMON TOPIC

Rev. Yelderman Applies Simile to Daily Lives

Taking as his text Rev. 22:18-19,
"For I testify unto every man that heareth the words of the prophecy of this book, If any man shall add unto these things, God shall add unto him the plagues that are written in this book; and if any man shall take away from the words of the book of this prophecy, God shall take away his part out of the book of life, and out of the city, and from the things which are written in this book." Rev. E.
H. Yelderman spoke to a large audience at the First Christian church last night on the subject of "World Champion Whittlers."

As a preface to his sermon Rev.
Yelderman told of a man who did nothing but whittle and talk, yet never said anything, and then spoke of some world champion whittlers.

"If a person came to your house, took your Bible, tore out several pages, and the only thing he left was a piece of paper, you would say, 'What you would say to him,' said the speaker. "If someone else took your New Testament, cut out several verses with a knife and threw them away,
I would call him a Bible whittler."

"In a larger sense men have done that very thing. If a man says, 'I believe a certain thing the Bible says but not some other things,' he has actually whittled the Bible."

"But who has done the whittling in God's book?" Rev. Yelderman asked, and then answered his question by quoting of ancient and modern men and women who have taken part of God's word out of His book.

Making a strong appeal in behalf of church unity Rev. Yelderman declared, "man is a whittler today who does not believe and hope that the church and the world are in the unity of all Christian believers, and I believe that I shall live to see the day when scores of Protestant churches will come together. Jesus Christ wanted us to be one and the man who does not want unity has just whit-tled John 17:21 out of the Bible."

"The man who believes that he does not have to be a member of the church to be a Christian might not think he is a whittler, but he is."

"These instances would be just the same if you took a knife and cut these truths out of the Bible, for you say you don't believe them. God says that he will put a plague on those who whittle away His word and he will surely keep his promise," Rev.
Yelderman illustrated his talk with various instances of man's whittling away of the Bible and in comparison quoted scripture quotations.

Preceding Rev. Yelderman's sermon, Mrs. J. E. Grammer sang 2 beautiful solo, with piano accompaniment by Mrs. H. C. Holmes.

Next Sunday morning Rev. Yelderman will speak on "What the Christian Church Believes and Teaches," and at the evening service he will talk on "Why the Christian Church Lies Instrumental Music" and printed copies of the evening sermon with scriptural references will be presented those attending.

Question of Gifts For The June Bride Is Most Perplexing At Present

WHAT to give the June bride is a most difficult question just now. There are worlds of things to get, of course, but there are always limitations. The gift should be useful and not too expensive. One thing it is well to keep in mind—that the bride must furnish a whole house and that it is not necessary to confine our gifts to odd bits of bric-a-brac for any one room. Starting with the kitchen consider the many things that a new housekeeper will need. Inexpensive tables that make moderate priced and delightful gifts are: The small drop-leaf table that may be used for cards, with the addition of a removable-tissue cretonne cover, and in between usings for this purpose it may hold magazines and books, one leaf turned down against a wall. A real card table, with folding legs and a felt top that is shipped underneath a three or four-inch band of mahogany wood—a card table de luxe that any family would be proud to own, and which would be entirely within reach of the average pocket-book.

There are also tiny pieces ranging from the telephone stand to the foot-stool, articles which brides do not very often buy for themselves, but which they always like. Even the better telephone stands may be considered to be inexpensive, tables mostly shaped like a diminutive table desk, though more square in shape, and with a low-backed chair that fits under the stand when not in use. The chief trouble to be sought for in these stands are fineness of wood and finish and a design that follows more or less faithfully after one of the periods. A telephone stand and chair painted and decorated a fine color to blend with the room in which the telephone is kept adds a flavor of thoughtfulness to the gift. Footstools are varied in design, and mostly comparatively low priced. Those with little feet and rails at the ends, of mahogany or walnut, and upholstered in velours, are particularly to be advised.

In nearly every living room there is a hearth, and this affords an opportunity for selecting an inexpensive gift for the bride. They are armchairs, the best ones to buy are those entirely of brass, or those entirely of wrought iron. The plainer either is designed, the better, and the heavier the brass, the better it will wear. Those of solid brass are especially desirable. Then there are firestools, which should preferably match the armchairs, and include a shovel, tongs, poker and brush, all fitted in a holder of some sort. There are also foot lighters, tall wickerlike brooms, wood boxes and baskets. There are firecreens, which run from the adjustable mahogany shield screens, placed near the hearth sofa or chair, and there are the woven wire screens of iron or brass that fit around the fireplace opening and protect the room from chance sparks.

FIRST BOTTLE OF TANLAC BROUGHT HER RELIEF

Austin Lady Says She Noticed Improvement From Very First.

"After all Tanlac has done for me I could not do otherwise than praise it," is the appreciative statement of Mrs. R. H. Slack, highly esteemed resident of 305 East 3rd St., Austin, Texas.

"My experience with Tanlac began four years ago. At that time I was suffering from indigestion so bad I could hardly endure it. I was troubled with gas, heartburn, dizzy spells and, in fact, about all the disagreeable symptoms that come from a disordered stomach. I only weighed 97 lbs., and was so thin, weak and nervous that life was miserable."

NEW YORK, June 2.—Pick your husband by psychology! Apply big business methods to the business of marriage!

A job's a job at home or in an office. And only the best applicant should fill it.

That's the theory of Miss Alice McCormick, 25-year-old prize beauty of Nebraska, and daughter of a colonel of the Volunteers of America. And she has come to New York to put it into practice.

Long lines of applicants pass before her daily—both at the Mason's Pavilion and Hotel Exposition, where she is the center of attraction, and at her Greenleaf Village hotel where she has the best-lodges gyping. But so far none has passed the test.

Forteen men have tried to make her change the method of selection by making alluring offers of marriage. "But I will not have any of them," says the determined miss. "I have been too many marriages go on the record because of unscientific arrangements."

"And I am going to take no chances." So she goes on patiently awaiting the applicant who can stand the tests. There is a long list of these.

First, of course, is Miss McCormick's reaction. If the appearance of the man strikes her, she puts him to the first test.

She smiles and her psychologist watch: The MAN'S REACTIONS—If too bright a glimmer comes into his eye, or too dull a look, he is passed up. But if just the proper shade of pleasantness, he is allowed to go on.

Then comes the test: For IMPRESSION—light chatter about things in general, and Miss McCormick's ideas in particular, bring about an expression of incredulity, or concurrence. By this the psychologist makes their second judgment. "It's easy to tell whether a man's fibbing or sincere," says Miss McCormick in an aside. "And I find that most of them are fibbers."

If perchance the applicant gets this far, he is subjected to more detailed tests—conducted privately.

His PATIENCE is tested by long waiting for the next experiment.

His RESOURCEFULNESS—by solving a puzzle in a certain length of time.

His INGENUITY—by picking together blocks in a certain design.

His ADJUSTABILITY—by quick changes from one problem to another, employing different faculties.

His NEATNESS—by arranging figures and objects in certain combinations within a requisite time.

His TOLERANCE—by his reactions to disturbing factors during certain of these experiments.

His MENTAL CAPACITIES—by remembrance tests, arithmetic problems, and word analogies.

you are perhaps the nicest man in all the world. I oughtn't to take them, Karl!" I said balancing the little white gems in my hand.

"Don't deprive me of that great pleasure. Every one of those gems has a distinct association for me, and although I cannot connect each one with its proper association, yet when I knew the other day there were still three absent from your string I felt as though I had been deprived of three very happy memories."

"It is very sweet of you, Karl, dear, to do all this for me. I want to tell you again, that under no consideration, without your full consent and knowledge, will I ever dispose of any other one of these beautiful jewels."

Silently Karl's hand reached across the table and clasped mine. Looking into my eyes the compact was made. "I'm wondering now, Ruth, what I will do if Karl insists upon me wearing them back."

CLAIM COCA COLA INCOME TAX SHY
ATLANTA, Ga., June 2.—Suit for $63,343.40 was filed in United States district court here today against the Coca Cola company alleging unpaid income and excess profits taxes for 1919 and a 40 per cent penalty assessed by the commissioner of internal revenue for the alleged making of a fraudulent and false return.

The government alleges that the company paid income and excess profits taxes totaling $1,548,184 for 1919, when a tax of $8,103,800 should have been paid.

"You don't know whether he has sold them yet?" I asked.

"I haven't the slightest idea, but you might go and find out," and he gave me his card with an inquiry about the pearl written on it.

"Fortunately luck was with me. I found the man just had them." He told me he had been on the point of selling them three or four times, and at the last moment something had happened which broke off negotiations.

"Now," Karl said, unfolding the paper, "here they are, and your string is intact. It almost seems as though it were something that fate had decided upon," he concluded.

C. E.'s Told How To Make Society Grow

"How to make a greater Christian Endeavor Society" was the subject of a talk made last evening to the Christian Endeavorers of the First Christian church, by Rev. R. R. Yelderman, who stressed three important factors in C. E. work; the intangible things, the social features and the mechanical part of the society.

The great love for the Christian Endeavor cause, the love for one, another, a spirit of fair play, the spirit of Jesus Christ, and tenacious work were some of the outstanding intangible things stressed by the speaker.

In the social feature of the C. E. work, Rev. Yelderman said that no society would be great without the social element, that the society ought to provide entertainment for the young people; that the young people ought to be friendly with one another and to strangers. The third factor stressed was the mechanics of the society, under which he grouped the leaders and officers of the C. E. society.

"No organization can work without well-organized machinery," he said. "Much depends on the enthusiasm of the leaders. Interesting programs are a necessary part of C. E. societies."

In conclusion Rev. Yelderman suggested, a number of means by which the Endeavorers might build up their attendance and interest, and declared that the society ought to set some definite goals and do something of which they might well be proud.

Preceding Rev. Yelderman's talk several delightful musical numbers were given. Mrs. H. Claud Holmes gave a lovely rendition of "Meditation," and Misses Wee Wee Griffin, separate, and Gladys Garrett, contralto, sang a beautiful duet, "The King of Love My Shepherd Is." Mrs. Adrian Gorman delighted the Endeavorers with a charming violin selection, which was enthusiastically received.

As a means of increasing the attendance at the C. E. meetings, an attendance contest will be held by the Endeavorers, with a different Endeavorer in charge each Sunday evening. Next Sunday Lester Kniskott will have charge of the attendance. The Endeavorer who makes the highest score in the attendance campaign will be awarded a gold C. E. pin.

Henry P. Foote will have charge of the program next Sunday evening, the topic for discussion being "Christian Courtesy." Several special numbers will be given at this program, to which all young people of the city are invited to attend.

Hodentrippers in Denver have been raised to $8.50 a day, much to the disgust of men who could't carry a hot thirty minutes.

To Quit Shops, Visit Castles, When Drake's Millions Arrive

OHIO MAN, 68 IS DIRECT HEIR

Servants For Wife To Be His Biggest Luxury

By NEA Service
LIMA, Ohio, June 2.—James Henry Smith, 68-year-old patternmaker at the Lima locomotive works, may take his vacation now.

He and his wife, Jeffer-son Smith, living in Oklahoma, are two of 33 heirs to the $60,000,000 in castles, treasures and spoils left by Sir Francis Drake, famous British admiral and buccaner of Elizabethan days.

"For 52 years Smith has not had a day off without pay."

Now he will take weeks off—and not care about pay.

In his old-fashioned two-story home here, the gray-haired, wrinkled worker unfolded the dream of his youth, which the promise of a fortune might bring about.

"I have always wanted to travel to see the world, to find out how the rest of the people live," he remarked. "And it looks as though I'll have the opportunity."

"The first thing we'll do when we get the money is to travel," and he looked prominently toward his 64-year-old wife, Mrs. Smith, who returned a motherly smile and let him continue.

"Perhaps we shall go around the world. We do not know. But it all depends on our children."

There are eight children, with their own families. But their father has promised not to forget them in his sudden streak of good fortune.

"We shall give a share of the fortune to each of our children, so that they would never want for anything. And we won't be estranged from them."

"Of course, we shall go to Europe and see the castles. If it would be possible for all the children to take their families overseas so that we could all be together, we might occupy them our lives."

"But that's hardly likely. So we'll probably dispose of the millions."

"I wouldn't think of living in England, anyway, with the children here. I've raised them here and I think I'll stay."

The Smiths' his adventures am-pression, however, will make little im-pression on Smith. Drake couldn't stay home long enough to become acquainted with his neighbors before he was out on another buccaneering expedition.

But outside of that trip abroad and around the world, Smith wants to stay home, lead a quiet, comfort-able life and share in the happiness of his wife, his children and grand-children.

The difference between now and later will be a finer home with a cozy fireplace—and servants.

"Yes," Smith said assuredly. "Mrs. Smith will hire servants. Why shouldn't she? She has worked hard all her life and never has known what it is to take things easy."

"She has it coming to her."

He spoke in a manner certain of receiving the legacy.

"The information I have received is true, and I'm positive I shall receive it," Smith declared.

"It will be impossible to say when it will come, but I understand it will not be long."

Yet Smith isn't counting his chickens before they are hatched.

Mrs. Smith still packs his dinner-box and he still reports for work at the pattern shop at 7 o'clock morning.

To THE MUSES

Whether on Ida's shady brow
Or in the chambers of the East,
The chambers of the sun, that now,
From ancient melody have ceased;

Whether in heaven ye wander fair
Or the green corners of the earth,
On the blue regions of the air,
Where the melodious winds have birth;

Whether on crystal rocks ye rove,
Beneath the bosom of the sea
Wandering in many a coral grove,
Far Nine, forsaking Poetry;

How have you left the ancient love
That bards of old enjoyed in you!
The languid strings do scarcely move,
The sound is forced, the notes are few!

—William Blake.

One of the big thrilling situations in the feature photoplay, "The Crim-son Clue" at the Liberty theater to-morrow is the fight at the edge of a cliff in which a man is thrust over and bounds from one abutment to the other.

With the assistance of a half-breed Mexican they almost succeed in their efforts and contrive to have the fore-man of the Bar X Ranch arrested for the stealing of the horses.

WALKS LIKE HE NEVER HAD THE RHEUMATISM

San Antonio Resident Gives Astonishing Evidence To Prove The Power of Karnak.

If any man in Texas has more cause than another to feel grateful to Karnak, the sensational new medi-cine, surely it is Mr. J. Studhalter, well known resident of 610 North Palmetto Ave., San Antonio. But let Mr. Studhalter tell the story in his own words:

"When I began taking Karnak," he states, "I was suffering so from rheumatism that I could not walk without holding on to something. I had almost completely lost control of my limbs and was in such agony both night and day that I could not lay in one position five minutes. To make matters worse I suffered a nervous break-down, lost several pounds in weight and got into such bad condi-tion I thought my time had surely come."

"I was under the treatment of spe-cialists and bought enough medicines to stock a drug-store. In fact, I spent a small fortune trying to find some-thing to help me, but kept on getting worse until I had given up hope en-tirely."

Karnak is sold in Port Arthur by The Corner Drug Store.—Adv.

San Antonio Resident Gives Astonishing Evidence To Prove The Power of Karnak.

If any man in Texas has more cause than another to feel grateful to Karnak, the sensational new medi-cine, surely it is Mr. J. Studhalter, well known resident of 610 North Palmetto Ave., San Antonio. But let Mr. Studhalter tell the story in his own words:

"When I began taking Karnak," he states, "I was suffering so from rheumatism that I could not walk without holding on to something. I had almost completely lost control of my limbs and was in such agony both night and day that I could not lay in one position five minutes. To make matters worse I suffered a nervous break-down, lost several pounds in weight and got into such bad condi-tion I thought my time had surely come."

"I was under the treatment of spe-cialists and bought enough medicines to stock a drug-store. In fact, I spent a small fortune trying to find some-thing to help me, but kept on getting worse until I had given up hope en-tirely."

"When I saw M. Anderson's new me-dicine advertised I thought: 'Well, I'll try it for it sure looks like my last chance!' and I will say right here that I never expected anything to do what Karnak has done for me. Three bot-tles of the medicine has completely renovated my system and I am now back at work. I walk like I never had the rheumatism in my life. Karnak beats anything I have ever seen dur-ing the seventy-three years I have been on this earth and I will never be without it. I am going on a trip, but Karnak will be the first thing I put in my trunk. It is a pleasure to recommend anything that does just what they say it will."

Karnak is sold in Port Arthur by The Corner Drug Store.—Adv.

Bill Ryan One of Most Scientific Grapplers to Come Here

Appears Against George V. Actor In Finish Match

New York Grappler Has Win Over Romanoff And Jack Taylor; Tips Scales at 206 Pounds "Of Flashy Scrapping Muscles"

THE life of Bill Ryan, grappler who comes here Monday June 2, to appear against George Actor in Elks theater ring, reads like a novel, according to statements made today by sports promoters.

Ryan has been wrestling for 11 years, and during that time he has met the best boys in the game, the majority of which he defeated. Ryan is a big, husky, "fine looking gent," and considered one of the country's leading contenders. He weighs in usually at around 206 pounds, and is advertised throughout sportdom as "a force once caught."

Arrangements for the New Yorker to appear in Port Arthur were concluded through the courtesy of southern wrestling promoters who found it expedient to secure several towns for Ryan in order to obtain the grapple in any one city. Port Arthur was included on the list, and George Actor, local ace who has not appeared here in some time, was matched against him.

Actor is putting on weight, it is rumored, and plans to enter the ring at around 190 or 195 pounds when he makes his debut and draws with the New York City star.

Ryan has to his credit wins over some of the best men in the nation, and has conquered such wrestlers as Romanoff, Jack Taylor, Canadian champion, and hasn't lost a match in his native state of Nebraska. "The New Yorker comes to Port Arthur with a record that will vie with that of Clarence Eklund, the light-heavyweight champion, and is a 20-year old, experienced, and scrappy every minute of the bout, promoters assert."

"I've through, I met a better man, I've always done my best and I'm satisfied."

IS 457-YARD DRIVE LONGEST IN GOLF?

Once in a While a Prodigious Hit Is Recorded But Even Stars Have Trouble Getting 300 Yards

By JOE WILLIAMS

What is the record drive for distance in golf? You read much of siege gunners who habitually slam out 300-yard drives, but you seldom catch them in the net. A number of driving contests were held in the south last winter with noted professionals, including Haver, the British champion, competing, and in no case did the winning shot measure anything like 300 yards.

STRAIGHT DOPE BENNY

If your Uncle Sam wants to keep the yaps away from the horrors and handclaps of this country, that's his business. Personally, I am not much interested in the matter than Baiting Siki would be in an empty gin bottle.

Elks, Shaken Up in Spots, And Abetted By New Hurler, Beat Texaco Stars 6 and 2

By VAN M. ANDRUS

MR. PETER KARNASKY took it unto himself to defeat the Texaco Stars when they played the Elks yesterday afternoon on Lake Shore Diamond and the Elks won another issue 6 to 2. Karnasky struck out 11 men, allowed but five hits, and went on a batting rampage to collect three swats in as many times at bat.

Fulbright scored in the first inning on Smith's three-base hit, and was Elks score No. 1. Davis doubled in the third and crossed home plate on Karnasky's safe hit. He was Elks score No. 2. Davis got on again in the sixth inning, was advanced to third on Karnasky's double. Frank Morgan singled, and then both Davis and Karnasky scored on Cook's hit that was followed by two put-outs on the bases and a put-out at home plate. Dinkins got on on a single in the seventh, advanced to third on Fulbright's double and scored on Smith's sacrifice fly into deep left field. He was Elks score No. 5. In the last inning, Karnasky hit a triple, and was scored on Frank Morgan's sacrifice fly. He was Elks score No. 6 and the last.

Black and Kring singled in the third inning, advanced a key on Karnasky's error, and then scored on Corley's two-base hit. Three men were left on base after that, but none could reach home. Lauer replaced Kring in the third when Kring hurt his knee sliding to third base. The score:

UNIFORM WEIGHT

LAW ADVOCATED

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Standardization of bread loaf weights by state laws with a federal statute regulating weights of bread moving in interstate commerce will be sought at the seventeenth annual conference on weights and measures to be held at the bureau of standards here next week.

The bureau has taken the lead in the movement because a recent decision holding the Nebraska bread weight law unconstitutional had forced revision of laws of 20 states. Bureau experts will endeavor to draft a new law which will evade the court's objections. All states will then be urged to enact the law for the protection of bread consumers.

GREASES BARS WITH SOAP: GAINS FREEDOM

AUSTIN, Texas, June 2.—H. W. Warren, under two-year sentence from Travis county, who was recently returned to the county jail in Austin from Globe, Ariz., after having escaped in a jail delivery several months ago, again sawed his way out of jail to freedom, but his stay out of jail this time was of short duration. Officers recaptured him in a shack a few miles from the city.

Warren's second escape was accomplished in a novel way. After sawing through a bar, he found the aperture too small to allow the escape of his body. With soap he greased the bars, and removing his clothing, he successfully squeezed through, and lowered himself to the ground by means of knotted blanket.
